

YANKEES WORLD CHAMPIONS AGAIN

Vaunted Bomber Power Subdues Reds by 13-5

BULLETIN

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The New York Yankees won the World Series, four games to one, today when they beat the Cincinnati Reds, 13-5, in the fifth game.

Following is a play-by-play description of the fifth World Series game:

Yankees first

Richardson took a called strike and then singled to left center. It was his ninth hit of the series, tying the record for the most number of hits in a five game series. The record was set by Home Run Baker and Eddie Collins of the Athletics in 1910, tied by Baker in 1913, by Henie Groh of the Giants, in 1922 and Joe Moore of the Giants in 1937. Kubek flied deep to Pinson, Richardson holding first. Maris flied to Robinson, Richardson staying at first. Jay threw to first trying to pick off Richardson, but the ball got by Coleman and Richardson went to second. Coleman was charged with an error.

Blanchard, on a 3-1 count, hit a home run into the right field bleachers, scoring Richardson ahead of him and putting the Yankees ahead, 2-0.

Skowron on a 3-2 pitch lined a single off the center field wall, scoring Howard. Skowron could have had an easy double out of it, but fell down after rounding first base.

Jay was taken out and Maloney went in to pitch for the Reds. Lopez tripled down the right field foul line, scoring Skowron. Boyer doubled off the left field scoreboard, Lopez scoring.

Terry struck out. Five runs, six hits, one error, one left.

Pinson popped to Boyer just in front of the pitcher's mound. Robinson flied to Lopez. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

AFL-CIO Faces Re-Admission Of Teamsters

NEW YORK (UPI)—The executive council of the AFL-CIO convened today under the shadow of the man who wasn't there—James L. Hoffa and his Teamsters Union.

The question of Hoffa's Teamsters—kicked out of the international union four years ago on charges of corrupt domination—topped the issues facing the 27-member council as it drew up plans for the December national convention.

AFL-CIO president George Meany was under pressure from supporters of Hoffa, who are urging the Teamsters' re-admission, and from others, headed by Joseph A. Beirne, president of the Communications Workers of America, who would set up a rival Teamsters Union.

Hoffa's union, with 1.7 million members, is larger even than the Steelworkers or Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers, and has been making aggressive inroads on the AFL-CIO.

Supreme Court Affirms Commies Must Register

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its ruling that the U. S. Communist party, its officers and rank-and-file members must register with the Justice Department as agents of a Soviet-dominated conspiracy.

The court stood by its decision of last June 5 in a brief order denying a Communist party appeal for a rehearing of the case.

This means the registration order which was held up last June by Justice Felix Frankfurter should be on its way to a lower court in a few days. Following last session's decision, Atty. Gen.

Yankees second

Richardson flied to Robinson. Kubek singled to left. Ken Johnson warmed up in the Reds' bullpen.

Maris doubled down the left field foul line, scoring Kubek and putting the Yankees ahead 6-0. Blanchard walked on a 3-2 pitch. Maloney was taken out and replaced by Ken Johnson.

Howard lined to Freese, who made a leaping one-handed catch. Skowron flied deep to Pinson. One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

Reds second

Coleman grounded out, Skowron to Terry who covered first. Post singled to left on Terry's first pitch.

Freese flied to Maris in short center.

Edwards singled to right center. Post going to third. Bell batted for Johnson and fouled to Howard.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Yankees third

Bill Henry went in to pitch for the Reds.

Lopez struck out.

Boyer walked.

Terry sacrificed, Henry to Blasingame, who covered first.

Richardson grounded out, Kasko to Coleman.

Reds third

Blasingame singled to center.

Kasko singled to left when Lopez misjudged the ball, going back for it and then came back in but not in time. Blasingame stopped at second.

Bud Daley and Hal Reniff warmed up in the Yankee bullpen.

Pinson flied to Blanchard in deep right center. Blasingame going to third after the catch.

Robinson hit a home run into the right centerfield bleachers, scoring Blasingame and Kasko ahead of him and making the score Yankees 6, Reds 3.

Daley went in to pitch for the Yankees.

Coleman beat out a bunt down the first base line for a base hit.

Edwards on a 3-1 count fouled to Boyer.

Three runs, five hits, no errors, two left.

Yankees fourth

Blanchard doubled down the right field line, Kubek stopping at third.

Howard was purposely passed, filling the bases.

Skowron singled to center, filling the bases.

Skowron singled to center, scoring Kubek and Blanchard, with Howard stopping at second.

Lopez hit a home run to the right of the left centerfield scoreboard, scoring Howard and Skowron ahead of him and putting the Yankees ahead 11-3.

Henry was taken out and replaced by Sherman Jones.

Boyer popped Jones' first pitch to Edwards.

Daley grounded out, Blasingame to Coleman.

Five runs, four hits, no errors, none left.

Reds fourth

Gernert batted for Jones and was called out on strikes.

The attendance was 32,589.

Blasingame grounded out, Skowron to Coleman.

See Setting Of Special Election

Council Facing Old Issue of Redistricting

The Palm Springs City Council is expected to set up a December special election giving the city's voters a choice as to redistricting the seven councilmanic districts, adopting a city-wide five-member council, or retaining the present system, during the 7:30 p.m. meeting tonight.

The council, which will be missing at least one member, with vice-mayor Kenneth Kirk hospitalized in Dallas, Tex., will conduct a public hearing at 8:15 p.m. on the appeal by Westview Development Co., from the previous council denial of a height variance. The Westview apartment plans, sought for the city golf course area, are designed on a westernized Japanese motif. The plans call for two-story structures, could result in approximately a $2 million addition to the city's realty units. Mayor Frank Bogert reports.

A highlight of the meeting will probably be councilmanic action on the urgency ordinance prepared by city attorney Jerry Bunker for a change of zone for Robert Gould's planned five acre plus project between Avenue 34 and the Whitewater channel in the Crossley property.

Gould, who had asked a change from R-2 to R-3 for five acres of ground, was recommended for the R-3 zoning for 6.4 acres by the city planning commission, with the provision that a two acre recreational area be incorporated in the original five acre site. Gould, who told council members in the meeting two weeks ago that he has sought the project two years, left the planning commission meeting last Wednesday prior to the recommendation.

Other council action today will include consideration of the county mutual aid fire loan, and the county civil defense program.

Man Dies from Highway Crash

BANNING — Saul A. Rothfeld, 62, of Hollywood, died at 1:40 p.m. Saturday in San Geronimo Pass Memorial Hospital from injuries received when his car crashed into an underpass abutment on Highway 99 near the Highway 111 intersection.

Rothfeld, who was accompanied by a 12-year-old son, Jerry, was en route to Desert Hot Springs to visit an eight year old son, Eric, investigators reported today. Eric is a patient in the Angel View Crippled Childrens Hospital.

A spokesman for the county coroner reported high winds and dense sand conditions on the roadway when the crash occurred.

DUTCH POLICE BATTLE RUSS OVER RED WOMAN

berg, area Democratic official, second from right. Congressmen include B. F. Sisk, 11th district, next to Bogert; Harold Johnson, second district, and John McFall, ninth district. Sen. Clair Engle did not appear.

Rightwingers Force Delay on Laos Agreement

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Rightwing Laotian leaders today forced a 24-hour delay in seeking King Savang Vatthana's approval of a plan to form a coalition government with Prince Souvanna Phouma, Communist-backed neutralist, as premier.

The basic agreement was reached Sunday at a conference of the three princes of Laos in a candy-striped tent on the banks of the Nam Lik River in Hin Heup village.

Souvanna Phouma and his half brother "Red" Prince Souphanouvong, agreed that Prince Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, premier and vice premier of the present pro-Western government, should go to the royal capital at Luang Prabang today.

They were to arrange an audience with King Savang Vatthana for Souvanna Phouma at which the neutralist would seek authority to try to form a coalition government.

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan indicated Sunday that the agreement still could blow up over this.

PALM SPRINGS' best-dressed man is Edgar Schill, left manager of Thunderbird Country Club. That was the decision from a vote taken at the MAGIC-BAGIC Style show Saturday opening a five-day conclave of the men's and boys' clothing industry in Palm Springs Riviera Hotel. News In Brief

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Kennedy will fly to Dallas, Tex., this afternoon for a brief visit with ailing House Speaker Sam Rayburn, the White House announced today.

President Kennedy will visit Rayburn today. Secret Service men checked the security of Baylor University Medical Center, where Rayburn is, in advance of the President's arrival.

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt warned the West today against offering the Communists "one-sided concessions" on Berlin. He said it was a weakness to speak "too loosely" of concessions.

Brandt reported today to Berlin newsmen on his quick trip to the United States late last week during which he had a telephone talk with President Kennedy.

Weather

Some cloudiness but mostly sunny and warmer today and Tuesday. Gusty winds north sections late Tuesday. High temperatures today 60 to 75 upper valleys, 75 to 85 lower valleys.

Sunday's high in Palm Springs was 75, low was 57. High today expected to be 85.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn has withstood the first dose of an experimental cancer-slowing drug a physician disclosed today.

Rayburn got the first dose of the drug, 5 diuoro-uracil, Sunday. It is put into his veins, like a blood transfusion. Dr. Ralph Tompsett, spokesman for the four doctors treating Rayburn, said the treatment is continuing and there have been no side effects.

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford and the United Auto Workers concentrated on settling local disputes at 33 plants today with the government hoping for an early end to the strike by 120,000 workers.

Water Spouts Strike Coast

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—Two towering water spouts of hurricane force ripped into the San Diego County resort coast Sunday, injuring three persons slightly and causing damage estimated in the thousands of dollars.

The Weather Bureau said the winds that churned the spouts moved at about 100 miles an hour and attributed the unusual phenomena to cold air masses flowing over Southern California on strong northward winds.

The first two several boats from their moorings, ripped loose two roofs and felled a number of trees.

A second spout struck a short time later four miles to the south in the area of Carlsbad, another resort town.

California Clothiers Open Market Program

More than 2,000 members of the clothing industry and their guests invaded Palm Springs over the weekend as the annual Market Week staged by the Men's and Boys' Apparel Guilds in California got under way.

And male fashions took the spotlight from the start in a style show staged as the opening event Saturday night at the convention headquarters, the Riviera Hotel.

It was the formal showing of spring styles for 1962 "Imported from California" and it had the attention of major national magazines, such as Esquire, State and national press representatives.

A highlight was the presentation of awards, which included Palm Springs Best Dressed Man,

Fist Fight When Defector's Wife Tries to Depart

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—Soviet Embassy officials and Dutch police clashed here today in an airport fist fight over custody of the wife of a Soviet defector, and the Soviet ambassador was punched in the nose.

Russian Ambassador P. K. Ponomarenko took the blow from a Dutch policeman when he and other first-swinging Soviet officials stormed a police office at Schiphol Airport to regain custody of Mrs. Alexei Golub, wife of a Soviet engineer who Sunday defected to the West.

The Russian officials dragged the woman from the airport police office and took her to the office of the Soviet Aeroflot airline where she was held under heavy guard.

The infuriated Soviet ambassador declared there would be "far-reaching consequences" if Dutch police failed to return the passport of Mrs. Golub so she could return to Moscow.

A Soviet embassy spokesman at the Aeroflot office where Mrs. Golub and Russian officials were encircled by Dutch police, said the ambassador was called to the office of Dutch Premier Jan E. De Quay to discuss the incident.

Before leaving the premier's office, Ponomarenko called in newsmen to protest against the "unprecedented behavior" of airport police.

The police had stopped Mrs. Golub just as she was preparing to board an airliner with a party of Soviet tourists returning to Moscow. They took her passport and asked her whether she was returning home of her own free will.

Mrs. Golub's 35-year-old husband defected from the same Soviet tourist group Sunday and asked the Dutch for political asylum.

After she was dragged into the Soviet airline office, Mrs. Golub burst into tears and said, "I wish to return to my country."

"My husband did not know what he was doing," she said, sobbing while Soviet officials around her nodded. "He did wrong. I have written a letter to the Dutch minister of foreign affairs because I love my husband."

Hours after she was to have flown back to Moscow with some Russian tourists, Mrs. Golub was still caught in the East-West tug of war. The Soviet airliner was still waiting for her on the runway. For the time being the situation seemed a stalemate.

Big Decision On Next Move Faced by Allies

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and its Allies today faced the problem of deciding on their next move in the Berlin crisis in view of a stiffened Soviet stand.

There appeared to be differences among the Western powers as to the wisdom of continuing to probe for a soft spot in the Russian demands, which call for abandonment of the Allied position in Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was expected to confer this week with the British, French and West German ambassadors here on the continuing East-West deadlock.

The Western Allies obviously were disheartened by the fact Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko took a tougher stand in his conference Friday night with President Kennedy than he had in previous talks with Rusk.

Rusk was said to feel it still was worthwhile to continue diplomatic discussions of some form with the Russians to try to find an "honorable" basis for negotiations.

The French and West Germans were not convinced of this, feeling the Allies would do better to stand pat and see whether Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will modify his position.

West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe said during a TV interview Sunday the Kennedy-Gromyko meeting appeared to be a "step back" compared to Gromyko's earlier meetings with Rusk.

He said the evaluation of the Kennedy-Gromyko conversation among Western diplomats was "not optimistic." Up to now, he said, the preliminary U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin had "not provided any practical basis for meaningful negotiations."

Two Arrests Tallied On One Springs Fracas

After the score sheet was tallied, it was one arrest for public drunk, one apprehension on suspicion of grand theft auto, and one lady didn't get a ride to San Bernardino, police detectives reported today.

Lt. Robert White, police investigation division chief, explained officers received a call about 10 p.m. Saturday from Gordon P.
Tucker, 34, of 618 Calle Roca.
Tucker said he was having trouble with Danny Thomas, Rodgers,
27, of San Bernardino. The ruckus began, officers reported, when Tucker's girl friend, 30 year-old Nellie Slain, called Rodgers to take her from the Tucker residence.

In the ensuing drama, one or two people were decked, and Tucker called police. They found
Rodgers slipping out a back door.
The car he parked in the driveway was wired to a battery for charging, and the registration and pink slip said the car belonged to a Carlton E. Roberts, San Bernardino.

Tucker was booked on a drunk charge, Rodgers on suspicion of grand theft auto. The state investigation and identification bureau advised police here that the Rodgers records is en route by mail.

High School Report Goes On KDES Today

Today at 4:45 p.m., radio station KDES begins its second year of presenting the High School Report. The program, sponsored by the Santa Fe Federal Savings and Loan Association, will be heard Monday through Friday at this time.

Hap Trout, the production supervisor, states that the program "will be concerned with giving the entire high school system a voice, with reference to its activities and accomplishments. It will, however, be equally concerned with developing an overall interest to anyone, especially parents and non-students."

Ruth Marie Samson, a senior at the high school and its commissioner of publicity, has been assigned as the "program coordinator" for High School Report, with assistance from Mrs. Geraldine Howlett, the school district's public relations director.

Throughout the school year, High School Report will be delivering programs of school news, especially talent achievements, singing groups and musical presentations, art, athletic and science shows.

The first airing today introduces the Program Coordinator.

Little House Will Open Door Tomorrow

Palm Springs Welfare & Friendly Aid will open its Little House tomorrow, 9:30 to 11:30, to sell donated clothing, furniture, toys, books, household articles, etc., at a minimum price. Tuesday sales are being held at the Health Center on Civic Drive.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA HAS HAD FIRST SNOW OF SEASON

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Southern California has had its first snow of the season.

Up to two inches fell early Sunday at higher elevations in Angeles National Forest and one inch was recorded at Mt. Baldy. The snow lines was 7,000 feet.

Rangers said they thought the early snow indicated that Southern California could look forward to a wet winter.

In San Diego County, as much as three inches of snow was recorded at certain points. Heavy rain and hail pelted other sections of the county from the coast to the desert, forcing the brief closing of U.S. 80.

Kiwanians To Convention

The Kiwanis Club of Palm Springs will be represented at the 1961 convention of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis International at San Diego, Oct. 15-18. Club President James Crowe has announced.

Delegates will be Bob McWhirter, Dr. George Milkie, Dr. Walter Grouws, Ray Lockwood, and Red Kenyon, Grouws said.

W. Clyde Glass, a trustee of Kiwanis International and Louisville, Ky., businessman will be a featured speaker at the four-day meeting at the El Cortez Hotel. Also on hand will be Dr. Ernest G. Bashor, Los Angeles. Dr. Bashor, too, is a trustee of Kiwanis International.

Delegates from 430 clubs representing nearly 23,500 business and professional leaders will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, consideration of successful community service work and the election of officers will highlight the program, Jim Crowe said.

Presiding officer will be C. A. Monroe, Palmdale.

Kid's Recreation Starting Today

Palm Springs area youngsters start tripping the light do-si-do at 3:30 p.m. today, as the fall junior square dance program for fifth and sixth graders gets underway in the Pavilion, under the sponsorship of the city recreation department.

Elderly seventh, eighth and ninth graders will whoop it up at Cielo Vista school beginning Thursday, 7 to 8 p.m. The "Golden Squares" advance juniors class will begin Thursday at 8 p.m. in Cielo Vista school, with Mrs. Osa Mathews as instructress and caller.

Duffer golf instruction started at the Palm Springs Golf Course Saturday, and will continue each Saturday from 3 to 4:15 p.m.

Beginning at 9 a.m. Tuesday, 8 p.m.

the "Ladies Swing and Sway" golf classes will begin, with pro-manager Zell Eaton and pro Al King instructing. A bucket of balls and nine holes of golf are included in the tab. Intermediate golf instruction for the ladies begins at 9 a.m. Friday, for weekly sessions.

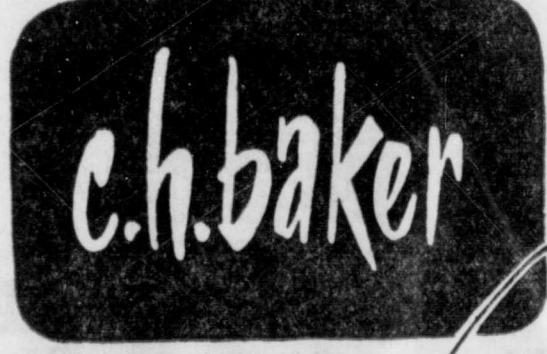

Adult weekly programs will be enlarged in scope, city recreation director Howard Haddock announced. At 8 p.m. Oct. 16, the adult beginners square dance program begins, with Osa Mathews instructing.

The adult square dance workshop will begin at 8 p.m. Oct. 17, and adult beginners round dance instructions begin at 8 p.m. Oct. 18. Adult advance square dance classes are held each Saturday at 8 p.m.

Dinah Declares TV Variety on Its Way Out

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Are television variety shows going the way of vaudeville—out?
“Yes,” says Dinah Shore who stars in one of three remaining variety programs—the others being Ed Sullivan and Perry Como. “Every year there are new western, detective and dramatic shows on TV, but you never see a new variety show. It’s a shame. But the explanation is simple, they cost too much money.”
Dinah began her video varieties 10 years ago with a daily 15-minute program that grew to a big, splashy, colorful hour of songs, sketches, comedy acts and dances.
She will be seen in only 10 shows this season, the first of which beams tonight.
“I remember when I was on the tail end of a comet of variety shows just three or four years ago,” she said wistfully.
“It began on Thursday night with Rosemary Clooney and Ernie Ford. On Friday it was the ‘Bell Telephone Hour,’ Saturday featured Perry Como, Polly Bergen, Gisele MacKenzie, Kay Starr and Jimmy Durante. On Sunday it was Steve Allen and me.”
According to Dinah those days are gone forever, along with “live” television.
“Do you know I have the only show on NBC that is produced live?” she asked. “It’s terrible, but tape and film have taken over television. Everything on TV is like a slick movie.”
Dinah believes that TV is a unique medium of its own and shouldn’t ape the techniques of the theater or motion pictures.
“Television has an identity of its own,” she said. “The very fact that it is happening now and is prone to human error makes it all exciting and fun. Sometimes the goofs are the best part of a show. On tape and film there isn’t room for spontaneity.”
Tonight Dinah shares the spotlight with her husband, George Montgomery, and guests Nanette Fabray and trumpeter Al Hirt.
Other songbirds have starred in their own shows, but none has managed to stick around. Dinah herself is at a loss to explain her TV longevity.
“Maybe it’s because I’ve surrounded myself with the best possible people in their fields,” she said. “And I think I’ve managed to maintain my femininity, too. That helps.”

IT'S A BIG JOB that's under way at the intersection of Ramon Road and Highway 99 near Thousand Palms—as can be seen from these two photos. Above workers are setting up for the cement forms for the overpass support between the highway and the Southern Pacific railroad. Looking to the east in the picture below we see men working on a nearly completed support for the bridge that will carry Ramon Road traffic across the freeway. Completion of the span will fulfill a prolonged effort by community leaders in both Thousand Palms and Palm Springs. (Desert Sun Photos)

Nuclear Sub's Launching Set

VALLEJO (UPI)—The Navy's 27th nuclear-powered submarine will be launched at Mare Island Naval Shipyard Dec. 9, according to shipyard commander.

The craft will be the attack submarine Plunger, named after one of America's first submarines built between 1901-03. Honsinger said it was struck from the Navy register in 1913.
The new Plunger will be torpedo armed, 278 feet long, and will displace about 4,000 tons. It will be the sixth A-1 submarine launched from Mare Island.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Ted Kennedy's Tops as a Hubby

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—When the time comes to elect the 1961 “husband of the year,” I intend to cast my vote for Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, the President's youngest brother.

His qualifications for this honor flash almost blindingly into view when you consider the press reports on the birth of his second child in Boston last week.

According to the accounts I read, Kennedy was not at the hospital at the time and his wife was quoted as telling a doctor that he might be difficult to reach because he was a heavy sleeper.

This indicates that he was at home in bed while she was giving issue. If so, he may have made a valuable contribution to the science of obstetrics.

Husband Problem Remains
I mean, all of the advancements in this branch of medicine in recent years have been directed to the benefit of the mother and child.

Very little has been done toward solving the ancient problem of what to do with husbands until the baby arrives.

About the best system that has been worked out so far is to have them mope around the hospital corridors, looking at old magazines and getting in the way of nurses.

I would give a pretty penny to know how Ted Kennedy avoided this. Possibly his baby arrived unexpectedly. If so, his wife showed commendable foresight in being at the hospital at the right time.

Most women, as you know, wait until the situation becomes critical. Then they take their own sweet time about finishing the job.

However he accomplished it, it seems to me that Kennedy has pointed the way to a logical solution to the problem. What could be more sensible than to let husbands sleep through the birthing period?

Recalls Dawn Patrol
When a husband is shaken awake in the wee hours and told that it's time to go to the hospital, he simply tells his wife where to find the car keys and swan dives back into the pillow.

This would be a splendid arrangement. Right, fellows?
Well do I recall the first time I caught the dawn patrol. After spending endless hours in the maternity ward, I finally decided I would have a tonsillectomy or something to help pass the time.

Unfortunately, the surgeon on duty wouldn't cooperate, so I had to spend the rest of the night in the lobby, playing the Coke machine.

At times like this I envy the penguin. When a female penguin lays an egg, she goes out for a walk and leaves the male to hatch it.

Hatching an egg is not exactly my idea of great sport, but at least it would give you something to do.

Tiny Tots Take to Fashion

No matter how small they are, tiny tots can have fashion too! Just because they haven't had their first birthday yet, or their legs are slightly on the wobbly side, is no reason not to look "very well dressed." Boys and girls alike have a wide selection of new styles to choose from even if they still sport diapers.

They enjoy a new fall outfit just as much as their older brother or sister or their mother or father.

It does something for the morale to look cute and pretty and perky . . . even if still confined to the carriage set.

Fine corduroy seems to be the most predominant fabric trend for this up and coming age group. Designers love to work with it and mothers know it washes like a charm . . . plus takes the rough and tumble every day wear completely in stride. It looks smart in diaper sets with delicate appliques, it is pretty and practical in creeper sets with coordinated cotton blouses often with matching jacket and hats too. There are so many charming outfits to choose from . . . tiny tots and their mothers too will find it very difficult to make their selections.

Freezing Ahead Is Using Your Head

Time and Effort Can Be Saved by Freezing Meals

Make 'em, wrap 'em and freeze 'em. Let this phrase become your motto for all sandwich making during the summer picnic and cook-out months and the winter school-lunch months. By making up sandwiches in quantity and freezing them, you save yourself time and effort in meal plans and give yourself more leisure.

You'll be glad to have sandwiches already prepared and wrapped when the shout for a picnic arises or the rush before school just doesn't leave time for sandwich making. Pack the picnic or school lunches right from the freezer, too, you'll enjoy the party much more when your little sandwiches have been prepared the week before, frozen, and then thawed in time for serving.

Save an afternoon some day for sandwich making. Make up a number of your family's favorite fillings and use a variety of different breads for the sandwiches.

There are some sandwich ingredients that freeze very well and there are others that are not satisfactory. These fillings freeze very nicely - hard - cooked egg - yolk, cooked or canned chicken, turkey or seafood, cooked or canned meats and dried beef fillings. Cheeses, cheese spreads and peanut butter fillings will freeze also.

Avoid using fillings with cooked egg white. The egg white becomes tough and rubbery when frozen. Raw vegetables such as tomatoes, cucumber, lettuce, radishes, green pepper, carrots and others lose their crispness and change flavor in the freezing process. Add these ingredients to your thawed sandwiches just before serving. To tuck into the picnic basket or lunch box, wrap them separately or place in covered paper cups for easy, no-spill carrying.

Spread bread or rolls with butter, margarine, dairy sour cream or cream cheese; avoid mayonnaise or salad dressing as spreads for they separate when frozen and soak into the bread. Use them

Plants Will Do Better If Divided

Many plants with strong clumping tendencies will do better next year if divided and transplanted late this summer or in early fall. C. E. Ackerman, University of Illinois extension horticulturist, prescribed this treatment for iris, peonies, June-flowering, chrysanthemums, lilies and hardy spring-flowering bulbs.

He pointed out these perennials actually start root development in the fall and begin growing before freezing weather. He cautioned against late fall transplanting because the plants do not become reestablished before freezing weather.

For the actual transplanting, set the plants firmly into the soil with the roots well spread to a depth slightly lower than that at which the plants previously grew. Firm, but do not pack, the dirt about the roots.

Watering may be unnecessary where the soil is moderately moist, but under hot, dry, windy conditions, water the transplants enough to moisten the soil to a depth of six to eight inches.

Use a light shade to protect the plants from intensely bright sun and help them recover from the shock of transplanting.

sparingly as binders for salad-type fillings. Spread the butter or other spreads to the edges of the bread. This will prevent the fillings from soaking into the bread while the sandwiches freeze and thaw.

Wrap each sandwich individually, according to how long you plan to freeze them. Use a double wrap of waxed paper or transparent wrap, carefully sealed, for sandwiches to be kept for a week or less. For longer periods* in the freezer, use waxed or transparent wrap and then wrap each in moisture-vapor-proof material such as aluminum foil or plastic film. Sandwiches wrapped in this manner will keep from 2 to 3 weeks. Be sure to close each wrapping securely, and then label the sandwich as to its filling, type of bread and date. Place the sandwiches in the freezer away from the bottom and sides to avoid formation of ice crystals on the packages.

Most sandwiches will thaw in about two hours after being removed from the freezer. You can pack the lunchbox or picnic basket right from the freezer. If you're eating at home, remove the sandwiches from the freezer at least two hours before mealtime.

Other picnic items will also freeze so you can have a picnic ready-to-go at any time. Freeze hamburger patties, frankfurters, sandwich buns, corn-on-the-cob, cakes, cookies, cupcakes and other family favorites. Assemble the food for one picnic meal on a baking sheet, carefully sealed. When picnic time arrives, practically your entire meal is lifted from the freezer ready to go.

The punny clipping Rosalie Hearst enclosed in a letter is full of good advice. It noted that doctors found their ill patients also were of ill humor, while those of good health were of good humor. Moral: The surly bird will catch the germ!

Dan White has a honey of a suggestion. Seem its not only bananas that don't belong in the refrigerator; honey doesn't belong there either. It will lose its flowing consistency.

I might add that the suggestion is also timely. National Honey Week is set for Oct. 22-28.

Mrs. Dan (Jane) has settled a score with the eggs that used to settle all over her, when she tried to separate the whites from yolks. Lately she's been breaking eggs into a funnel. The whites will funnel into a saucepan, while the yolks remain solo.

Also speaking of eggs was Molly Kenaston, who salts her eggs before she boils them . . . when they're cracked. During cooking the salt will seal the crack and the yellow won't be went!

When you're shooting snaps for the family album do your small children react as if the camera were a time bomb about to explode? If they do, it is probably because that one-eyed monster is unfamiliar looking and sounding. Philm Siegel suggests conditioning the family with a dry run. Whirr the movie camera and click the shutter on the still camera for the kiddies before loading up. When the final photo is taken, everyone will be calm, cool and professional.

Add a pretty and perky color touch to your white linens, suggests Louise Schoons, by sewing colored trimming or souches along the hem seam.

It is said that "beauty comes from within." Perhaps it is this thought that has made health foods so popular . . . people are trying to get beautiful from the inside, out.

However, an already pretty bride, Shirley (Mrs. Cliff) Brown is using health food from the outside, in. She told me that yogurt makes a wonderfully inexpensive facial mask.

Do you become teary eyed when preparing onions? According to George Gortner of K. P. fame, your days of weeping will be over if you chew on a kitchen match while chopping.

Most of us have yet to find a swimming cap that won't let our curls down. Jackie Laykin has given up looking, but has added an innovation of her own. She wraps her coiffure in cellophane wrap before applying her not-so-foolproof cap, and comes up dry every time.

From Sue's husband to you: Pat is sick of the bills that come from ordering pills and thinks that we wives can aid the ill-balancing budget. Suggestion: Label your prescriptions as to content and next time you're ready to order pills you may find what you need on your own shelf.

Chips-Chicken Casserole Adds Tang to Dinner

A deliciously different dinner for visiting relatives or friends these cool autumn days can be Chips-n-Chicken Casserole, Minnesota state winner in last year's Men's Cooking Championship. Here is the recipe:

5 oz. can boned chicken
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 c. finely cut celery
1 tbslp. minced onions
½ c. slivered almonds
½ tsp. salt
1 tbslp. lemon juice
½ c. mayonnaise
3 hard-boiled eggs (sliced)
¾ c. cooked wild rice
½ cups crushed potato chips
Combine all ingredients and place in casserole. Cover top with additional ½ cup of crushed potato chips and bake at 50 deg. for 15 minutes. Serves 8. By Irving E. Lane, Minneapolis, Minn.

Snake Oil Gone, But Quackery Linger On

By SUSAN WAGNER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Snake oil liniment and other oldtime "miracle cures" have disappeared from the market, but medical quacks are still bilking Americans of more than $1 billion a year.

That was the report Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, presented today to a national congress of medical quackery. The meeting is sponsored by the Food and Drug Administration and American Medical Association.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who also addressed the conference, said he was studying the possibility of impounding fraudulent medical products sent through the mails.

Ribicoff said that despite his differences with the AMA on other subjects, "there is no reason why we cannot work wholeheartedly together to do away—for once and all—with the menace of quackery." He asked the delegates for their recommendations.

The cabinet member declared that "today quackery is flourishing" although "some of the quainter nostrums... have vanished from our midst."

"Today, quackery is more sophisticated," he said. "The old-time hokum has assumed new disguises."

"The Food and Drug Administration, for instance, is now engaged in legal proceedings against certain vendors of bottled sea water priced up to $20 per gallon which has been offered as a modern preventive and panacea for virtually all human ailments."

"But for the most part the witch doctor's tom-tom has given way to the illustrated brochure; the medicine show extravaganza to the television commercial; potions, barks, and berries to the phony but impressive 'cancer clinic' or 'scientific diet'."

Edwards, who has been an efficient gardener for 25 years, said "I just wanted to kill chrysanthemums."

despite whatever qualms GOP leaders now have.

"Republicans in the past usually have run in the primary without opposition," Knight said, "just as Nixon has in the state. Earl Warren was unopposed, and so was I the one time I ran for governor. Some Republicans are inclined to shun the primary instead of regarding it as part of our democratic procedure."

Take Food And Liquor Off Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's airlines have agreed to eliminate all food and liquor service from domestic coach flights as a means of saving money.

The action, subject to Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) approval, was taken at a meeting of top airline officials. They also established a committee to look into the problem of passengers who fail to claim reservations.

The airline representatives agreed to abolish all food and alcoholic beverage service on domestic coach flights but to continue serving coffee, tea milk and soft drinks at a carrier's option. They would also advance seat assignments for all coach and first-class domestic flights and ban the serving of liquor "set-ups" on coach flights.

DIES IN CRASH

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—Robert R. Benson, 18, was killed Sunday when the 17-year-old girl he was teaching to drive his car apparently lost control.

STARTED WITH CHIN BITE

Children Made Up, But Parents Miffed

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Zola Lee Arbogast, 2, stopped her finger painting, changed her dress and marched bravely outside to accept a kiss from Robin Rice, also 2.

The kiss, sweet as it was, marked the beginning and end of any romance between the pair.

It also marked the end of a smoldering feud between the two families, which culminated in an order evicting the Rices from their home in a housing project for Navy families.

The trouble began in August, when Robin bit Zola twice on the chin while the two played.

It picked up momentum when the mothers, Mrs. Ellen Arbogast and Mrs. Patricia Rice, each sent an older child to the defense of their two-year-olds.

And it broke into open warfare when the mothers themselves got into a hair-pulling, clothes-ripping tussle.

As a result, Mrs. Rice, whose husband is a chief petty officer, and her brood are being evicted from the project at the request of Mrs. Arbogast, whose husband is an ensign.

The eviction notice was authorized by Rear, Adm. L. P. Kimball Jr., head of the Naval Supply Center in Oakland.

Mrs. Arbogast said, "I'm willing to make up, but the overture should come from her."

Said Mrs. Rice: "The matter is closed. We're moving at the end of the month, and my husband told me not to say anything more."

Food Stamp Plan Expansion Seen

By BERNARD BRENNER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman might decide by early December whether to recommend a sharp expansion of the experimental food stamp program, it was reported today.

The program is currently underway in eight so-called "pilot" areas. The Agriculture Department reported in a statement today that reaction to the program by the people who were being helped has been good.

Under the food stamp plan, low-income families buy government stamps which can be used in the place of cash at grocery stores. Along with the purchased stamps each participating family gets an allotment of free stamps. This is the government's contribution to improving the family's diet.

Freeman said in the statement he was very encouraged by the preliminary reports. But he added that the effectiveness of the one-year experiment can't be gauged until research is completed.

A series of studies are underway designed to estimate the effect of the food stamp program, the effect it's having on food consumption patterns, nutritional levels in needy families and on farm prices and income.

Department officials expect to complete the research studies by early December. Then, the results will be turned over to Freeman for a policy decision. He'll determine what should be done when the experimental program ends next June 30th.

If Freeman and other administration officials decided to recommend expansion, the proposal will go to Congress early next year.

Death Plot Complete

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police say Lute Strong Henderson, 38, who was caught making "Molotov cocktails," told them she had a plot to kill her brother-in-law which included:

Throwing home-made bombs into the back door of his home.

Hurling a bucket of gasoline through his first door.

Shooting him if he ran from the house.

Cutting his throat if all else failed.

The woman was found earlier in the week at the rear of the house of her brother-in-law, Franklin Harris, 38, with the ingredients and a formula for the explosive firebombs, police said. She also had a 25-caliber automatic with her, said officers, who booked her on suspicion of attempted arson.

The program began operations in June and July in Franklin County, Ill.; Floyd County, Ky.; the city of Detroit; the Virginia-Hibbing - Nashua area of Minnesota; Silverbow County, Mont.; San Miguel County, N.M.; Fayette County, Pa.; and McDowell County, W.Va.

Through the end of August, 143,000 persons were enrolled in the program.

The Agriculture Secretary went to market again this week to buy groceries for school children, institutions, and needy families.

One of the world's biggest shoppers, Freeman bought nearly $3.3 million worth of chicken, beef, pork and lard. Those purchases were a single week's installment in four current government buying programs covering frozen ground beef, canned chopped meat, lard and broiler chickens.

All of the chicken and ground beef will be donated to schools. The canned chopped meat will be donated to needy families. The lard will be given to both schools and families, and also to nonprofit institutions.

The purchases have two objectives. They're designed to bolster market prices for farmers in addition to feeding hungry people.

Analog Computer To Go Into Air

NEW YORK (UPI)—Go into the air, or even dig a hole these days, and you may find a computer at work or something gathering information to feed into one.

One of the latest applications of the much-used computer will be in actual air use, in making tests for the Navy. Electronic Associates, Inc., of Long Branch, N. J., announced this week it has delivered an analog computing system to the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N. J., to provide faster processing of test information gathered by a sort of flying laboratory.

Across the nation, analog computers were called into use in California to help in furnishing information about the water level in a natural storage basin beneath the Los Angeles County area, the company reported. In this case, the computers were not put underground although their companion instruments in New Jersey are destined to be dispatched into the air, in an airship.

The purpose of putting an analog computer into an airplane was to save time in processing information, gathered during flight tests, of aircraft models, particularly those intended for vertical takeoff or for short take-off and landing runs.

Primarily, the analog computer is a design tool; it can be fed variable information — weight, temperature, speed or area data — and return a sort of analysis of what it has read.

YOGI IS OUT at third in yesterday's World Series game at Cincinnati. The Yankee left-fielder tried to go from first to third on a single by Bill Skowron but Vada Pinson, Reds' center-fielder, threw to Gene Freese in time for the out. Yanks won, 7-0. (UPI Telephoto).

Ford Helps Maris Take Ruth Name Off Records

By OSCAR FRALEY

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The full, checked face of Whitey Ford was as impassive as an unbaked muffin, almost the same color and texture, but underneath his belt the butterflies were hammering iron wings against the lining of his stomach.

He might, externally, have been going to the mound against the Fat Man's team in the Epworth League instead of the Cincinnati Reds in a vital break-it-open World Series contest. For this could put the Yankees solidly in the driver's seat and give the stubby Whitey one of the most coveted records in the books.

Babe Ruth, the most glittering of all the Yankee stars, was the target again.

Back in 1916 and 1918, against the Cubs and the Dodgers, the young Ruth, who had not yet turned to blasting home runs, was a pitcher who ran up 29 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings in World Series play.

Twice last year Ford shut out the Pirates. Then, when he white-washed the Reds in the opening game of this Series, he had run up 27 consecutive innings without allowing a run.

Now, as he went to the mound, he needed three more.

It was, you might say, to be expected in a year in which the Yankees took a lot of shots at their old hero. Roger Maris hit 61 home runs to surpass the one-season tops of 60 which the legendary Ruth posted 34 long years ago.

Whitey's Turn

Now it was Ford's turn to go against the ghost out of the past and, in a game which will not be recorded as one of the most stirring in Series annals, his bid was the piece de resistance.

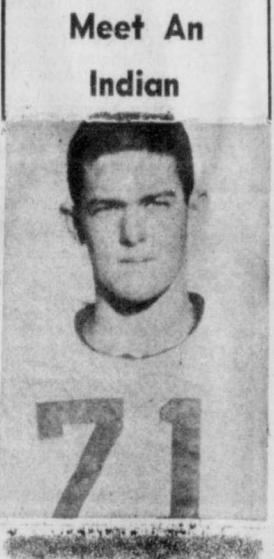

Grossman in Tennis Win At Riverside

Gary Grossman, ace of the Palm Springs high school tennis team, upset the defending champion yesterday in the annual Riverside tennis tournament — junior boys division.

The fine junior player who led his high school team to last year's championship in the DVL, defeated Richard Morris in the junior boys singles event. The matches were staged at the Riverside City College courts.

It was his power game which turned the tide for Grossman in a relatively easy 6-3, 6-3. The strategy of Morris, which brought him the title last year, was not enough for the Palm Springs youngster.

In other results, Charles Pasarelli won the men's singles, and Barbara Browning Rohland took woman's singles. Mrs. Rohland teamed up with her husband, Dale Rohland, to win the mixed doubles. Junior girl's champion was Penny Myrell, who also won an upset over the favored Marilyn Allum.

Early Discharge For Tennis Star

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Davis Cup tennis star Jon Douglas has received an early discharge from the Marine Corps to enable him to play in Cup matches against Italy next weekend, it was announced today.

Douglas, a former star quarterback at Stanford University, had been scheduled to be discharged Oct. 19. He had been unable to make the Cup matches against India recently.

He said he will join his Davis Cup teammates, Whitney Reed, Donald Bell and Ron Riessen, in Rome as soon as possible.

NFL TEAMS TRIGGERED BY SHOTGUN, BAZOOKA, PISTOL

By NORMAN MILLER

United Press International

There may be a lot of power in that "San Francisco Shotgun," but don't overlook the "Browns Bazooka" or those "Pistol-packing Packers."

Looks like the National Football League season is turning into one big shooting match.

The San Francisco Forty-niners' triple-triggered "shotgun" offense blasted the Los Angeles Rams full of holes Sunday, 35-0.

Coach Red Hickey of San Francisco again shuttled his three quarterbacks — John Brodie, Bill Kilmer and Bobby Waters — and the Forty-niners piled up 521 yards in crushing Los Angeles.

As for the "bazooka," that was Bobby Mitchell of the Cleveland Browns, who went on the most explosive spree of the day in a 31-7 rout of the Washington Redskins. Mitchell made a great catch on a 52-yard touchdown pass, ran back a punt 64 yards and raced 31 yards from scrimmage for a third TD.

The Green Bay Packers showed plenty of fire power, too, in annihilating the Baltimore Colts, 45-7. Paul Hornung scored 33 points on 4 touchdowns, a 38-yard field goal and 6 conversions.

Probably the most unexpected barrage, however, was laid down by the Chicago Bears in their 31-17 upset over the Detroit Lions.

In other games, the New York Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 24-9; the Philadelphia Eagles edged the Pittsburgh Cowboys drubbed the Minnesota Steelers, 21-16, and the Dallas Vikings, 28-0.

When all the shooting had died down, San Francisco and Green Bay were tied for first place in the Western Division, and Philadelphia, Cleveland, New York and Dallas deadlocked in the East, all with 3-1 records.

Chargers Unique Spot

BOSTON (UPI) — Tenaciously clinging to the right to be called the only undefeated major team in professional football, the San Diego Chargers today looked forward to their next hurdle to this honor—the New York Titans.

The Chargers had their troubles defensively for the first time this season in Saturday night's wild game against the Boston Patriots here, but San Diego still ended up with a 38-27 win over Boston.

San Diego, with five wins in as many starts in American Football League play this season, also had four straight victories in exhibition games. So going into Sunday's game against the Titans the Western Division leaders will be riding a nine-game win streak.

Charger coach Sid Gillman expressed "unusual optimism" before the Patriot game. But Gillman, normally the quickest in the league when it comes to jerking the crying towel, may have been a bit surprised by the Boston offense.

LONDON (UPI) — The United States Ryder Cup team arrived for its international golf match with Great Britain next weekend.

PARIS (UPI)—Italian-bred Molvedo won the $120,000 Prix de L'Arc de Triomphe by two lengths.

Lema Wins Wind-Blown Hesperian

HESPERIA, Calif. (UPI) — Young Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., won the fifth annual Hesperia open Sunday by shooting a six-under-par 138 for 36 holes in a wind-blown one-day tournament.

His only other previous win was for a mere $500 in the 1958 Idaho Open at Twin Falls.

Lema braved 30-mile-an-hour winds Sunday to post a five-under-par 67 in the second round of the Hesperia. In the first round, played in the morning, he was one of four golfers who broke par 72. He had a 71 along with Jacky Cupit, Longview, Tex., Jerry Steelsmith, Glendale, Calif., and George Bayer of Miami.

They faded, however, and Lema won $1,200 with his 36-hole total of 71-67—138. Steelsmith, another youngster, picked up $1,000 for his second place 71-70—141. Bud Holscher, North Hollywood, Calif., club pro, took third place and $900 with 73-70—143.

Cupit, named "rookie golfer of the year" by the PGA, took home $800 for fourth place on his 72-73—144.

Barber Named Golfer-of-Year

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) —Jerry Barber, who defeated Don January in an 18-hole playoff to win the 1961 Professional Golfers Association championship, today was named the PGA player-of-the-year.

Barber received 405 votes of 1-227 in a nationwide ballot of the PGA membership and those on the PGA national press list, according to an announcement issued by Lou Strong, president of the PGA.

Arnold Palmer, the 1960 player-of-the-year, was runnerup in this year's balloting with 374 votes and South African Gary Player, winner of the 1961 Masters championship, was a distant third with 140 votes.

Douglas, a former star quarterback at Stanford University, had been scheduled to be discharged Oct. 19. He had been unable to make the Cup matches against India recently.

He said he will join his Davis Cup teammates, Whitney Reed, Donald Bell and Ron Riessen, in Rome as soon as possible.

Sugar Ray Spars

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson had an audience of 150 watching his sparring session Sunday at the Long Pond Inn training camp where he is preparing for an Oct. 21 fight with Denny Moyer at Madison Square Garden in New York.

COLD AND WEARY after completing 19 holes of the roughest golf in the world, from left, Cal Baker of Apple Valley, who placed second, Dick Runkle of Westwood, who won the Pioneer Pass Golf Challenge with a par 149 and Jimmie Hancock of San Bernardino who won third place with a 159 card. The play started at Yucca Valley Saturday and went the distance of the Pioneer Pass to Big Bear City. The final nine was played at the Moonridge Golf Club in Big Bear. (Sun Photo).

GOLF CHALLENGE ENDS IN SNOWFALL AFTER HOT START

By ED BARNUM

BIG BEAR — Golfers are known to play in most every kind of weather, from blazing hot sun to snow — but they normally don't start a tournament in 80 degree-plus weather and end up playing the last hole in 30 degree temperature.

But they did last weekend when the 26 amateurs holed out at the Moonridge Golf Club here after playing 19 holes of the roughest golf in the history of the game.

The unbelievable score carded by Dick Runkle of the Los Angeles Country Club, of par 149, won the PPGC trophy. Second honors went to Cal Baker, Apple Valley Country Club, who fired a 158 and one stroke behind Jimmie Hancock, of San Bernardino, whose strokes totaled 159.

The true "cow pasture pool" players came from all over Southern California to participate. The beach cities were represented as well as the high and inland desert.

Weather played an important role in the two day tournament. Saturday, found the golfers facing a 35-mile-an-hour wind at the Yucca Valley course. The wind continued to hamper the golfers all day Saturday and Sunday morning a heavy snowfall caused the officials and golfers alike trouble when out-of-bounds markers and tee-off rings were obliterated. At one tee, tournament officials had to remark the tee-off ring in the two inch snow to continue the contest.

A very cold wind came up and when the snow finished heavy sweat suits and leather caps made an appearance. U.S. Marines from Twentynine Palms, who were acting as spotters, loaned out their heavy jackets to some of the golfers until additional clothing could be arranged for.

Joan Jackson, who is the director of the Yucca Valley recreation department, can be listed in the second group. Her score on one check point during the 19th hole, was 121 strokes. She continued to play and finished as did all the other starters.

Three members of the golfing fraternity from Marine Base, Twentynine Palms started and finished the course. Margaret Cox, who is president of the woman's golfing association on the Base, finished in the lower brackets while Capt. Les Johnson, holed out with a 208. S-Sgt. Bob Nelson, one of the top golfers at MCB, came in with a very respectable 180 on the 149 par course.

The Pioneer Pass Golf Challenge started three years ago when civic minded citizens of Yucca Valley and Big Bear wanted to draw attention to the shortest route possible between their two communities, the Pioneer Pass road. The course was laid out, nine holes to be played at Yucca Valley Country Club, and nine holes at the Moonridge Golf Club at Big Bear. The 19th hole constituted a 28 mile stretch of "fire road" between Pioneer Town and Big Bear City.

Of this 28 miles, only 12,660 yards were laid out as actual playing fairway, over the roughest, steepest part of the San Bernardino National Forest.

A total of nine check points were laid out on the rough rock and tree lined road. The players had to walk the entire playable distance, and were allowed to have spotters accompany them to assist in finding lost balls. The balls were painted a special bright yellow to help the mountain golfers.

Television In Review

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—There is a commercial for a scouring pad that has Gertrude Berg saying, "Yoo ho—with soap it's loaded."
Miss Berg came in Wednesday night with a new CBS-TV series, "Mrs. G. Goes to College," and to borrow her phrase, "with soap it's loaded."
In this effort, Miss Berg has changed Molly Goldberg's name to Sarah Green, just as on Tuesday, "Amos 'n Andy" became "Calvin and the Colonel" for the purposes of a new TV series.
"Mrs. G." has Miss Berg portraying a widow and grandmother who is settling down as a freshman at a large university after a long struggle to acquire a high school diploma. Cedric Hardwicke the co-star portrays an exchange professor from England who first regards Gertrude, er, Molly, er, Sarah, as a dilettante and then learns to accept her as a dedicated student. At times Wednesday night, Sir Cedric muffled his lines with sheepskin and was unintelligible.
Before Miss Berg delivered a lecture on the beauty of housework, she found herself: "I moved into a 'Dobie Gillis'-type classroom situation, given a large supply of malapropisms, mistaken for a baby-sitter, urged to forget about college and remarry, serving as the butt of nasty remarks, lecturing a campus go-off, cooking soup for her landlady. After her lecture, she sewed a button on Hardwicke's jacket. And they are going to keep this up every week? Or will Miss Berg decide to go out for varsity football?"
The message undoubtedly had a soul-satisfying and purifying effect on its audience in the best "Molly knows best" tradition. But the absence of real or relevant clashes of attitudes between the stars, the straining to bring in bits of business that are already stale, served to dunk the episode into a bubble bath of uninspired, antiseptic TV.

D-Day for City Council

This is D-Day at the City Hall. The Day of Decision for the City Council on a matter which will have a far-reaching effect on the future of Palm Springs. A Day of Decision on the way the city government will operate to provide the greatest service to Palm Springs. A day to decide whether to discard the past to meet the present.

The City Council will be asked to decide whether the same system of electing representatives to conduct municipal affairs, which originated 23 years ago, when Palm Springs first became a city, is adequate to meet the needs of the city today. We think not.

Before councilmen tonight is the decision on what manner of city government we will have. Councilmen are expected to act on calling an election to decide the method of choosing the governing board of the city . . . whether to abandon the form set up in 1938 in special action by the state legislature, to retain it as it is or to meet modern conditions with some changes.

For better than 10 years the present system of seven councilmanic districts has been subject to criticism and attack. Owing to the explosive growth of Palm Springs, the lines of districts originally drawn when the city was incorporated, are now outmoded and have been for some time.

For instance, one district, represented by one councilman, has more than 45 per cent of the registered voters in the entire city. Three other districts, represented by three councilmen, have only slightly more than 10 per cent of the total registration.

The remedy proposed, realignment of these seven original districts, is merely a stop gap. Due to this same explosive growth which shows no sign of tempering, realignment is not a cure. Within a short time, representation on the City Council, which a realignment election is designed to correct, would again be far from even. And another "cure" would be called for.

The permanent solution, we think, would be to junk the present system of electing councilmen and change to elections at large. The arguments for this change are many.

Candidates for City Council would be judged on their stand on the many matters which are important for the orderly growth of Palm Springs. The electorate would choose its councilmen for their attitude on important steps to meet the great growth of the city — high rise buildings, zoning matters, streets. Candidates at large would base their platforms on what they thought was best for the entire city.

A five-man council, with the welfare of the entire city their goal, would be far less unwieldy than seven members, each with his own district as his chief concern.

Palm Springs is not the community it was in 1938. Change is inevitable and it would seem that wise steps to meet this change will help to absorb our rapid growth in an orderly manner.

Only 2582 Pools? Huh?

Statistics released last week reported that there are 2582 pools in Palm Springs. Swimming pools, that is.

At the rate they are being dug and installed here, before we reach the period which closes this sentence, there will probably be 2855.

But the man in the street scoffs at these figures.

"Less than 3,000 pools here? Why, with the World Series on, there are that many, ranging from a nicker to a throw to a buck, being put together each day in stores and offices here.

"And the squeals of the winners when they have the winning ticket are as hearty as those vented by the people in the wall to wall affairs."

Remember When . . .

OCTOBER 9, 1951

California Water and Telephone Company reassured local subscribers that the Pacific Telephone companies request for a hike in pay phone rates from a nickel to a dime would not be effective here. Besides, it would take a long time to change over the local coin boxes.

County supervisors began study of plans for a three story million dollar building to replace the present wooden administration building of the general hospital.

City Treasurer Robert Peterson and City Clerk Louise McCann attended a meeting of Southern California Municipal finance officers at Culver City.

OCTOBER 9, 1941

Palm Springs Lions defeated Banning Lions in a tight softball game 22 to 21. Proceeds went to the Lions' milk fund. Homer Jenkins pitched and Floyd Bigley caught for the local club in the game played at the Field Club.

Bill Neindorf's exotic Cubana opened its doors for the season today.

R. Bruce Cregar has opened his new Palm Canyon Trading post in a building which replaces the one destroyed in the Palm Canyon fire last year.

OCTOBER 9, 1931

Plans to bring Snow Creek water into Palm Springs were reported in an uncertain stage and attempts to clarify the situation were stymied, it was reported.

A chart in the office of Kocher and Kynch, prepared by E. F. Myers, showed that postal receipts in Palm Springs tebled since 1925. In 1901 the receipts were $200, in 1925 $3,000 and in 1930, $12,500. The increase in 30 years was 4,569.59 per cent.

Building Project Ends

Dear Abby . . .

. . . by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY You ran a letter from another who said she was careful not to let her dog lick her baby on the mouth because she feared the DOG would catch something from the baby. And you replied, "Now I've heard everything!" Well, you haven't heard everything until you've heard MY story:

I was raised on a ranch, and have been bitten and scratched by every kind of animal found on or near a ranch. No infections resulted. Recently I was involved in a person-to-person fight. I was floored with a blow to my left jaw. This caused my own teeth to penetrate my inner mouth. I was hospitalized for several days, during which time I was injected with every serum known to man to prevent tetanus from killing me.

My personal habits are clean. I have always brushed my teeth and bathed daily. The doctor shocked me with the following statement: "There are more dangerous germs in the human mouth than in the mouth of any animal."

DEAR ABBY: I don't know when I have read anything as revolting as that letter in your column from the woman who didn't want her collie to lick her baby on the mouth because she was afraid of what the COLLIE could get. Honestly, some people are nuts! Please tell her if she is so worried about the dog she should muzzle the baby!

REVOLTED

DEAR ABBY: Yes, that dog owner who wrote to you was absolutely right. A dog's mouth IS cleaner than a human's. You have never seen a dog with bad teeth, and you never will. I'd sooner give my dog a sip of my soda than you!

ANOTHER DOG OWNER

DEAR ABBY: Let him have it. It's bad for MY teeth. DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell that idiotic woman that it is dangerous to be licked on the mouth by a dog? Have her family physician explain the danger of CYSTICERCUS. I personally have seen children and adults die from it. Sincerely, M.D.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

This is the week, we'd like to mention,

You should give thought to Fire Prevention.

Fire Prevention Week, which comes every October, emphasizes in a concerted campaign in seven days, what our fire departments are teaching 365 days of the year.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, nation-wide, is designed to call attention of everyone to the fact that it is much easier and less exacting to take steps to prevent fires than it is to put them out after they have started.

The common conception of a fireman's life is that he sits around the fire station, awaiting the alarm to go forth and subdue a blaze somewhere, a blaze probably started by someone's carelessness.

THOSE WHO VIEW IT on a higher plane, believe that a fireman's main job is to save lives and prevent loss to property. That is their goal, to be sure.

But too few are aware that a fireman and the fire department officials spend more time, and are more concerned over more hours, with prevention of fires before they can get started.

FIRE PREVENTION is not confined to just a week for firemen. It is a year-around job and 365 days each year are devoted to it.

People are careless, heedless, to do things that can cost them dearly, without thinking.

There are so many ways a fire can start—but only one way to put them out.

IT ISN'T JUST a matter of turning a hose on the blaze. Firemen have to know the laws of nature, what causes combustion and they have to learn the latest scientific ways of conquering a blaze with the least loss to property.

But you can't blame them for being a little pessimistic about people.

The casual manner in which men and women view smoking, for instance.

AN INSURANCE COMPANY official said the other day that careless smokers are far more of a hazard than a child equipped with a box of matches in tinder-dry surroundings.

People are careless with electrical wiring.

Careless or ignorant. Fire Chief William Leonasio told me of a downtown store where an electrical outlet was plugged with sockets which rose almost 13 inches above the floor. A cordial invitation to flames.

THERE ARE SO MANY rules to observe to prevent fires—many of them apply to smokers who flit ashes into a waste basket, "they won't start anything," those who light up when drowsy, the worst of all, those who smoke in bed. Those who empty ash trays into trash boxes without making sure no sparks are left. There are still people who replace blown fuses with pennies—the bone of every fireman. Those who leave "attractive nuisances" for children, lighter matches and so on, where children can reach them.

There are many things many people do which can rouse the firemen to come speeding to the rescue.

A little thought will do a great deal. Besides, the safer your city is, the lower your fire insurance rates are.

Leaders of Free World Too Young or Too Old

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

LONDON, England — They're either too young or too old! The wartime lament of the girls-we-left-behind-us is now the postwar wail of the Western front — of the English-speaking public opinion in Europe, which is the real shield for our lives and liberties. The traveler on his fourth trip to Europe is roughly a twelvemonth hears it, reads it, senses it. The old leaders are gone or going, and the weanling President has not found his legs.

Quo vadis? Where are you going, Mr. President. For a man who won the White House on the motto of "Move forward" and who thrilled the Free World with his early utterances, it is bad enough that his European image should, in the 10th month of 1961, be shaped like a very dim question mark. But there is something worse. Ominously, the youngest elected President in history, the only world leader born in the 20th century, the youthful knight who has drawn Excalibur from the block and has been proclaimed as the Lord's anointed, is by this hour in Europe the spirit of Things Past.

Back to Jefferson

The seeming turnaround is all too easily explained. This time last year, Candidate Kennedy had found and was exploiting the answer to Republican charges and public questioning about his youth and inexperience. Again and again he told his interviewers and audiences that he represented the hereditary Democratic line of Chief Executives going back from Truman, F. D. Roosevelt, and Wilson to Jackson and Jefferson. In city after city, to crowd upon crowd, he taunted Nixon with being the tail end of the sorry procession from Harding and Coolidge back to Taft and McKinley. A vote for Kennedy, he told us more often than we could count, was a vote for his partisan ancestors.

But, as it's been observed before this, ancestors are all very fine, but they are the last people with whom a living person would want to live. The President has brought this association upon himself. Without doubt, Truman, Roosevelt and Wilson all had their policies. The trouble is, that Mr. Kennedy, having no policy of his own, clings to these — and they all belong to the sterile past. They provide no answer, no leadership for the flaming and fissionable matters of today.

More, the President's image is being dulled and distorted by other figures coming between him and the gleaming spotlight which should be fixed upon him, and him alone.

At this writing the British news-stands are enlivened by the visage, the millinery, the coiffure, the costumes and the social graces of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. The winsome First Lady is a sight to gladden the heart of man, and few red-blooded American males will ever tire of her pictures. But she is an undeniable distraction to the concentrated attention which should always be bent upon the President.

Wrong Impression

This is more true in England and West Europe than it is back home. When the President and Mrs. Kennedy passed through the allied capitals on their way to meet Khrushchev in Vienna, he made so little impression that all eyes turned upon her. The result was that the momentous journey to the two-man Summit meeting gained an air of chic and bon vivant which still lingers. It adds an undesired and undesirable credibility to the European impression that Mr. Kennedy is a playboy of the privileged classes, a handsome but ragdoll remnant of yesteryear's royalty.

Then there are the numerous trial balloonists who take to the air with Administration messages, quickly disavowed if they prove unpopular. It is all very well for Senator Mansfield to call it a personal opinion when he plunks for recognition of Red Germany. But Mansfield is Majority Leader of the Senate. His opinions cannot be private and quarantined. Senator Humphrey is too well known as an Administration stalwart and White House habitue to be able to make independent observations on nuclear disarmament. Senator Fulbright, chairman of Foreign Relations, is the nearest thing the USA has ever had to being a British-type "foreign minister." No amount of verbal dissociation gives him leave to write an article in "Foreign Affairs," a semi-official periodical, and not have it considered to be a quasi-official policy.

Too Old or Too Young

Quite apart from the confusion caused by so much babbling, there is the distraction from the Presidential figure. At times the spotlight has become a scrimmage in which JFK is lost from view. At times the spotlight seems to follow other shapes and leave JFK in the dark.

Macmillan, Adenauer and De Gaulle are too old, and Mr. Kennedy has not yet proved himself old enough. One danger, as Englishmen tell it, is that some unknown leader of suitable maturity and toughness is likely to jump into the Western vacuum. Not long ago, Sir Roy Welensky, Premier of Northern Rhodesia, was asked at the London Airport who he thought he was.

"I am half-Polish, half-Jewish, and one hundred per cent British," Sir Roy snapped at the reporter. "Now, what the devil are you?"

Some such man as this, with positive opinions, may come along to fill the vacuum.

Only Elsa Could Have Displayed this Aplomb

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Elsa Maxwell made a memorable exit from New York's new Summit Hotel the other day. The timeless cast-iron butterfly of the International Set, en route to Washington by private jet, no less, was proceeding from the lobby door to her Rolls guarded by her liveried chauffeur and 14 assistant managers. Suddenly there occurred an event usually associated with direr nightmares.

Elsa's girlish shorts plummeted around her ankles. It could happen to any lady, or killed Scotsman. But who could have carried it off with as much aplomb as our heroine? Elsa stepped daintily out of her flimsy trap, scooped it up, and proceeded regally across the crowded Lexington Avenue sidewalk to her limousine.

"Put them back on in the jet," she told us. "It took 40 minutes . . . 40 minutes, that is, to get to Washington."

Long Time Sick

The Russian announcement that Cosmonaut Titov was airsick through most of his weightless day in space suggests that science must come up with either a fool-proof remedy for this avant garde seasickness or develop an engine that speeds up spatial travel.

The moon is so close, as space distances go, that we are even thinking of mining it. But at present missile and-or capsule speeds it represents a five-day roundtrip. No man who is airsick for 120 hours is going to be able to tell a very coherent story. Or do much mining.

Hughes Aircraft Company is developing an ion engine which it hopes will represent a towering break-through in space speeds. It will be tested next year via the Blue Scout booster, 5,000 miles up. The primary source of energy for the ion engine will be a nuclear reactor, the energy from which is converted to electricity. The men who are creating it believe something like it will eventually be able to propel a manned spacecraft two million miles a day. (By contrast, veteran airline pilot Dick Merrill, who retired this week, needed nearly 40 miles of flying to log his eight million miles.)

Mars, at its closest, is 33 million miles away. It would have taken Dick 160 years to reach it, and 180 years for the return trip — which his Toby wouldn't have liked one little bit, now that she's learned to cook. Howard Hughes' wizards speak of men reaching Mars in a single year but are guarded about trips to Pluto. Pluto is 3 trillion miles from us. Trillion, that's right.

A rather prolonged airsickness, wot?

Every time I open my mail I reize that no letter addressed "Dear Friend" is ever from a dear friend. This gentlest of all salutations has become the phoniest line in the annals of correspondence.

60 Is His Limit

At a recent student art exhibition in Milwaukee, Albert Dorne, president of the Famous Artists Schools of Westport, Conn., was chatting with Sister Aquinas, an art teacher at a parochial school in Racine, Wis. Artist Dorne was telling the nun about his favorite pupil, Sister Genevieve, who recently presented him with a St. Christopher's medal.

"And now," concluded Dorne, "I always feel safe when I am driving on the highways."

"I don't know if you're aware of this," Sister Aquinas confided, "but when you drive more than 60 miles an hour St. Christopher gets out and walks."

Was there ever a finer pitcher than Whitey Ford in the first game of the World Series? The light of this great lefthander has been so hidden under the bushel of home runs smitten by Maris and Mantle this year that it has not shone properly upon the average fan. In that particular performance, Mantle was benched and Maris couldn't punch or lift the ball out of the infield. Ford finally was able to show his greatness. He'll break Babe Ruth's pitching record of 29 2-3rd's scoreless series innings this weekend in Cincinnati. He now has 27 in a row. All he must do is get past the third inning of his next start without being scored upon. It's been a hard year for Big George, hasn't it?

Congress Leaves ADA Unhappy

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The left-wing Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) needs some burly Negro help in the ADA campaign to show President Kennedy the error of his ways.

ADA is unhappy with the record of the first session of the 87th Congress, just adjourned. It charges that Kennedy made a deal with Southern Democrats on civil rights and the filibuster. The deal, of course, would have been for the administration to permit Congress to adjourn without acting on either of these issues.

Congress did adjourn without any such action. It must be noted, however, that the powerful Negro pressure groups have not yet begun to complain loudly against the Kennedy administration. Their interest in easing the Senate's filibuster rule and in more civil rights legislation is great. Any indication that the White House had double crossed them on these matters scarcely could fail to arouse angry protests. These are sensitive areas.

ADA's political reflexes are especially sensitive to Kennedy administration performance because ADA must still be reckoned as in semi-mourning for what might have been. What might have been, of course, was the Democratic nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson for president.

Editorial Comment

ADA contends its adverse criticism was aimed at Congress rather than at the President. The ADA editorial expression of opinion, however, said:

"The President gave the Southern bloc in Congress exactly what it wanted—no civil rights legislation and no aid to the anti-filibuster fight. In return, they voted against him..."

That scarcely reads like applause.

The leaders of ADA judge Kennedy by the standards which they believe their hero would have established if he instead of Kennedy had been installed in the White House. ADA asserts that Kennedy's alleged deal with the Southern Democrats failed to win their support for his program and that they voted against him most of the time on really significant issues. Perhaps that is a fact.

It is equally true, however, that Kennedy would have jeopardized all of his legislative program in the recent session if he had forced a showdown on the filibuster and on civil rights. ADA now is demanding of Kennedy what the Democrats were demanding of Dwight D. Eisenhower during much of his White House term. They demand presidential leadership.

Specifically, ADA wants Kennedy leadership in the next session to force Congress to act on civil rights, the filibuster, medical care for the aged, tax reform, aid to education, reciprocal trade and all else to which the Democratic platform committed the party.

If Kennedy attempts next session to force feed Congress with the civil rights and filibuster issues, the legislative uproar is likely to be such as to defeat all other Kennedy administration measures that can be beaten by a general coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

JFK's Accomplishments
Instead of complaining against Kennedy, ADA should be congratulating him for his light-footed political maneuvers in getting from the recent session some of his major legislation. The President can safely continue his civil turn on him. Kennedy's executive orders in behalf of Negroes and appointments of Negroes to high federal office are a sufficient shield against ADA.

174 North Palm Canyon Drive, Palm Springs, Calif.

REGULATIONS FOR CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

- Every effort is made to eliminate false and misleading advertising from our columns. Any complaint will be thoroughly investigated.
- In the event of error notify the Classified Department at once. Advertisers are expected to check the first insertion. We will not be responsible for any errors after the first day.
- All claims for adjustment or credit must be made within 10 days. Receipts must be presented for cash refund.
- All ads cancelled before publication will be charged for one insertion.
- Read your ad carefully before placing it with ad taker. Due to mechanical operation it is impossible to correct or cancel your ad until it has appeared one time.
- All ads must be 3 lines or more.
- Addresses telephone and box numbers shall be charged as part of the advertisement.
- How to estimate number of lines: The cost of any advertisement may be determined by counting 37 letters and spaces per 8 point line; when all capitals are used, count 25 letters and spaces to a line.
- Orders cancelled before expiration will be charged for the actual date run at rate earned.
- Ads with Box Numbers will be charged 25 extra.
- Only changes: Copy on 30-minute orders may be changed 2 times weekly; on 7-day orders once weekly; on 30-day orders once; on 4-day orders copy may not be changed except for minor corrections.
- Telephone orders will be accepted without preparation from advertisers within our collection area, who are home owners or whose phone is listed in their own names. Payment for Situation Wanted ads and Rental Wanted ads is required in advance.
- All ads placed from hotels, trailer parks, and motels must be paid in advance.
- The closing time for daily Desert Sun Classified Advertising is 3:30 p.m. of the preceding day. Transient Non-Commercial advertising will be accepted to 8:45 a.m. daily and placed under too late to classify. Classified Department open 8:30 to 3:30 daily. Saturdays till noon.
- Borders, boxes, cut-in type and other unusual arrangements not possible in machine composition are not available.
- All classified display advertisements measure 8 lines per column inch.
- Ads for matrimonial offers, Fortune Telling, "Share the Ride" or Ads of similar nature are not accepted.
- No reference is permitted to any race, religion, color or creed in help wanted advertising, except to state a preference in ads for Domestic Help or ads placed by an established religious or charitable organization.

Reds Following Hitler Pattern

By PHIL NEWSON

SELB, West German - Czech Frontier (UPI) — Frau Josef Mindel is an attractive woman in her middle thirties who has three daughters, 8, 10 and 12. Her home is within a few kilometers of the barbed and electrified wire which separates West Germany and Czechoslovakia.

When she talks about the possibilities of war between East and West, her face takes on an air of worried tenseness.

She explains her feelings in a tumble of words which boil down to this:

She passed her own childhood as a member of the Hitler youth, and then lived through the war years.

She does not want her own daughters to suffer the same fate. Memories of Defeat

She, as all other Germans, is acutely aware of the fact that Germany has fought two world wars and has lost both.

Today, she lives in happiness with her husband, an official in one of Selb's porcelain factories, and her daughters, despite the fact that the guarded frontier is only steps away from her home. To her the question is simple. "Either we have them, or they have us."

With her memories fresh from the last defeat, she doesn't want to take the chance.

The people near the border here in upper Bavaria long since have learned to live with the barbed wire and the Communist guards who shout across the wire that some day the Communists will come and "liberate" them.

History Repeating

Mrs. Mindel's fear of the future springs from her memories of the past.

As a child, she grew up believing implicitly in the Hitler legend of the invincible Atlantic Wall. It was only while on a visit to Italy that she learned of the Nazi concentration camps.

That, she says, is when she began to think.

In neighboring East Germany and Czechoslovakia, children once more are being brought up in the pattern of the Hitler Youth. Only this time it is the Communists.

"They are not our enemies," she says. "But they are being taught that we are theirs. And they will believe it."

BUSY DAY

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Police reported the following day in the life of an 11-year-old boy:

He played hockey, stole his uncle's truck, abandoned it on a freeway when it broke down, stole a lantern from the drug store, damaged his school, ran so fast from pursuing police he left his shoes behind, stole a shoes salesman's car and drove to nearby Compton here he was finally caught.

CLEAN UP is held as a major theme for the 50th annual Fire Prevention Week, which is observed in Palm Springs and across the nation Sunday through Saturday, Oct. 14. Fire Marshal Warren Heath, left, and Assistant Fire Marshal James Harris emphasized that clean home and business areas offer fewest chances for fire. Fire Prevention Week commemorates the great Chicago fire of Oct. 8-10, 1871, which destroyed 17,430 buildings in the windy city. (Desert Sun Photo)

FIRE LOSSES

NEW YORK (UPI) — The estimated dollar value of property damaged or destroyed by fire in the United States last year amounted to $1,197,824,000. In 1939 fire losses were only $275,102,000, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

ERA ENDS

SAWYER, Kan. (UPI) — The last totally handset newspaper in Kansas has ended an era. The Sawyer News has bought a line-casting machine (Linotype). In this Kansas Centennial year it closes another chapter in the history of the state.

WATCH MORTGAGES

NEW YORK (UPI) — Do the mortgage shopping for that home of your dreams with caution, says Allied Chemical Co. It says the difference between 5½ and 6 per cent interest charges on a $15,000 mortgage can amount to $1,359 over its 25-year life span.

Fred Astaire's New Theme Song: 'I Won't Dance Don't Ask Me'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Fred Astaire's theme song this year is "I won't dance, don't ask me." And he means it.

As host-narrator and infrequent star of the new "Alcoa Premiere" television series the feather-footed dance master will stick to straight acting—and precious little of that. Fred, a youthful 62, will appear in only two shows as a performer, which somehow is unimportant.

The important thing is that Fred will be seen every week.

Undoubtedly this is what the Alcoa people had in mind when they signed Astaire for the season. Even if their shows aren't the greatest, people will tune in just to see Fred.

No Dancing Time

He could run for public office and win in a walk. Well, in a dance anyway—even if he does wear a knotted necktie to hold up his trousers instead of a belt.

"I won't have time for dancing this year," Fred said, relaxing at Revue Studios where his series is being filmed. "This work is interesting because I'm frequently consulted about the scripts and other details. It's like being a producer."

Because Astaire's name value is so great to any TV enterprise it is peculiar that it does not appear in the show's title.

Many another actor has picked up a small fortune by lending his name to the series in which he does not really star. But Fred is head, shoulders and instep above most performers.

"I made a point of the fact that my name did not appear in the title. And for a very simple reason. This is not the Fred Astaire show," he said.

"If my name were to be made a part of the title then I would feel compelled to appear in every show, or at least produce them like Dick Powell does."

No Specials

"I accepted the job with the understanding that the best efforts would be employed to bring good taste and fine entertainment to the show. So far I believe this is precisely what we have managed to do."

Fred is well aware that his "image" is being utilized to snare viewers to view the ABC show which makes its debut Tuesday night.

But he will be giving his best, as he always has, to audiences who have come to expect excellence from him.

"I won't be doing a 'special' musical show of my own this year," Fred said. "But perhaps I'll be back with another one next season. Meanwhile I like what I'm doing, and that's important."

EAST BERLIN CRISIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—A coffee drinker, apparently irked by Gov. Matthew Welsh's curtailment of state employees' coffee breaks, hung the following sign in a passage leading to the employees cafeteria:

"Entering East Berlin."
